

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

AN AMERICAN STUDENT FOR THE EGYPT EXPLORATION FUND.

We learn with satisfaction that Dr. F. B. Goddard (Ph. D. Harvard, 1881) is to join the staff of explorers in Egypt under the auspices of the EGYPT EXPLORATION FUND OF ENGLAND AND AMERICA. Dr. Goddard is known to our classical students by a valuable paper on "The Cyrenaica with some account of its history since the Decline of the Empire," printed in the fifth volume of the American Journal of Philology. There is a special fund in England for the English student (Mr. Griffith, who has already won an enviable place in Egyptian research), and now the American Student Fund is established in connection with the Society. About $700 are required for this purpose in 1888–9: hereafter a much smaller sum will be required. The ARCHÆOLOGICAL INSTITUTE OF AMERICA subscribes $100, and donations of from $5 upwards are asked from the friends of Education for this admirable object. Donors will be entered in the Fund's annual report and receive the illustrated quarto of the season. About $450 have already been received (August 15).

Rev. WILLIAM C. WINSLOW (Vice President of the Fund), 525 Beacon Street, Boston, will receive donations to the American Student Fund, and will also furnish the Circulars of the Society.